- 1 point for the team that loses the game after a (sudden death) overtime.
- b. In case of a draw after regular playing time, in all games under the CEHL and Belgian Cup competition, a sudden victory overtime will be played that lasts a maximum of five minutes. Overtime is played with 3 field players (if there are no penalties on the clock at the end of regular game time).
If the score is still undecided after sudden victory overtime, an all-deciding series of 5 penalty shots will follow. When this series of 5 does not bring a decision, additional single penalty shots will be taken until there is a winner.
The Referee will call the two Captains to the On-ice Officials' Crease and flip a coin to determine which Team takes the first shot. The winner of the coin toss will have the choice whether their Team will shoot first or second.
- c. If the remaining ice time proves to be insufficient, the Referee may, prior to the all-deciding penalty shots, decide not to allow the ice to be planed.

16. Ranking

- a. The teams in a competition are ranked according to the number of game points achieved, with the team with the most game points being ranked highest, the team with the second most game points being ranked as second, and so on.
- b. In the event of an equal number of game points between two or more teams, the final ranking in a competition is determined by the following rules:
 1. If two or more teams finish with an equal number of game points, the order of the ranking is determined by the game points obtained in the matches that these teams played against each other.
 2. If a tie still exists between those teams, the mutual goal difference determines the order of the ranking. In this case, the number of goals against in head-to-head matches will be deducted from the number of goals scored in head-to-head matches. The team with a larger positive balance or a smaller negative balance will be ranked higher.
 3. If a tie still exists between those teams, the goal difference of all games played determines the order of the ranking. In this case, the number of goals against in all games played will be deducted from the number of goals scored in all games played. The team with a larger positive balance or a smaller negative balance will be ranked higher. If a tie still remains between those teams, the team with the most goals scored in all matches will be ranked higher.
 4. If a tie still remains between two teams and the ranking is important for a championship, a tiebreaker game will be played, preferably on neutral ice. The League Manager may also decide to schedule this match at the home rink of one of the teams involved.

17. Best of three/five/seven series

- a. In a best-of-three, best-of-five, or best-of-seven series, two teams play for the most number of games won over three, five, or seven games, respectively.
- b. The team with the highest ranking prior to the series has home field advantage and plays the first game in the series at home. If the ranking is inconclusive or if this is necessary on the basis of the available 'match ice times', the League Manager will decide otherwise.
- c. During a best-of-three, best-of-five, or best-of-seven series, every game is a tiebreaker.
- d. The teams will play alternately home and away or home and away, or in any other order if necessary based on the available 'game ice times'.
- e. If a team has won a number of games such that the other team can no longer win the series, the remaining game(s) will not be played.
